

INVESTING IN BRAZIL

November 8TH, 2017

Industrie-Club Düsseldorf

Elberfelder Str. 6, 40213 Düsseldorf

8:30 - 10:30

While dealing with several political and economic challenges, the Brazilian economy is showing first signs of recovery. International investors are renewing their interest in Brazil, willing to unlock new opportunities that will arise from the redesign of governmental programs for infrastructure concessions and privatizations, among others. For such investments to be sustainable and provide the expected return, they require a solid base of qualified information and reliable local partners.

The breakfast meeting "Investing in Brazil" is a unique opportunity to gather insights into the status of the Brazilian economy, its geopolitical implications and the country's prospects for long-term growth. It is targeted at a selected group of high-level experts from the private and public sectors.
